About VoiceAbility
We make sure you’re heard when it matters most. We’ve been supporting people to have their say in decisions about their health, care and wellbeing for over 30 years. We’re an independent charity and one of the UK’s largest providers of advocacy and involvement services.

What does an advocate do?

Your advocate will:
- listen to what you think about what’s happening to you
- help you say what you want and don’t want
- help you understand information about your situation
- explain your options
- plan with you about what to do next

Your advocate will not:
- offer counselling or befriending
- offer legal advice
- make decisions for you
- tell you what to do

If at any point you need support that your advocate cannot offer, they can help you find out if there is someone who can.

You can ask to stop advocacy support at any time.

What we ask of you
- Please treat our team members with respect.
- Please tell us as soon as possible if you need to cancel a meeting.

About advocacy.
What we do and our promises to you
We’ll help you be heard
What is an advocate?

An advocate is an independent professional who is on your side. They can support you to have your say and know your rights.

- Advocates don’t work for the council, the NHS, or care providers.
- You don’t need to pay for an advocate.

Our promises to you

1. We will put you in control
Your advocate will help you do things for yourself and support you to make your own decisions. Your advocate will always check you’re happy before they do anything for you.

2. We will keep things confidential
We won’t tell anyone else what you have said to us, unless you agree.

   There are some exceptions. Your advocate must tell someone else if you share information about:

   - you or someone else breaking the law
   - you or someone else being in danger

   If we have to tell someone else, we will explain why.

   You usually have the right to meet your advocate in private. This means you can talk to them without anyone else in the room. If there is a reason that this isn’t possible, we will explain this.

3. We will ask your permission to see information about you
Your advocate may need to see your medical or care records in order to help you. Your advocate will only look at information about you if you give them permission. They will ask you to sign a form to say you are happy for this to happen.

4. We will keep information we hold about you safe. You can ask to see it.
Your advocate keeps information about the work you do together. You can also ask to see the information held about you. This information is stored safely for 18 months after the last time you contact us. You can ask for your information to be removed from our database at any time.

5. We will listen and respond to any feedback you give us
We ask people who use our service for their feedback about how we can improve and the information we provide. We’ll tell you how we’re trying to make our service better for the future.

You can make a complaint at any time if you’re not happy with the service we have provided. You can do this by contacting your advocate, or you can contact our Head Office, if you prefer: complaints@voiceability.org or 0300 303 1660.
